

Regarding the Other in Modern Jewish Thought

A CJCR Colloquium with Agata Bielik-Robson, Melissa Raphael, and Aaron Rosen

27 June 2012 at Lucy Cavendish College, Cambridge

10.00	Arrival, registration, refreshments
10.30–12.00	Session 1 (Aaron Rosen): Emmanuel Levinas and the hospitality of images
12.00	Lunch
13.30–15.00	Session 2 (Agata Bielik-Robson): The concept of the neighbour in Rosenzweig's Star of Redemption
15.15–16.45	Session 3 (Melissa Raphael): The Other as an incarnation of the divine: modern Jewish theology and counter-idolatrous images of the human
17.00–18.00	Round Table

Aaron Rosen is Lecturer in Sacred Traditions & the Arts, King's College London and currently a Visiting Fellow at the CJCR.

Agata Bielik-Robson is Professor of Jewish Studies, University of Nottingham.

Melissa Raphael is Professor of Jewish Theology, University of Gloucestershire.

Registration required. Bursaries for graduate students available.

For further details and the registration form: <http://www.woolf.cam.ac.uk/events/>

Contact and information: Emma Harris, eth22@cam.ac.uk